Address: Prince Albert Public Library - John M. Cuelenaere Branch, 125 12 St E, Prince Albert, SK S6V 1B7, Canada

There's a melody, if you pay heed, calling you to follow Nature's lead—a familiar tune, a chorused creed, a song of both grown plant and seed.

As the fluted magic on the wind floats by, you might find yourself only insect-high—or even too small to be seen by the eye! (But how else could you ride a dragonfly?)

The Council of Beings has asked me to greet young readers who would like to meet nature's apprentices. Their challenging feat is to strive to save the moss and peat.

Elizabeth Bekolay BSc. is a nature-based educator, naturalist, writer, and mother. She was born and raised in Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, and spent her childhood roaming the forests and rivers nearby. After a successful Kickstarter campaign, Elizabeth is self-publishing the first book in a series for children entitled The Magical Tales of two Brothers: The Peatlands. The story mixes true ecological lessons with the adventure of magical beings, abilities, and situations.

A Saskatchewan Writers' Guild Reading with support from Saskatchewan Lotteries Trust Fund and SaskCulture. Co-hosted by Nature Prince Albert. Everyone welcome!
